Please take the time to write a reflection in your journals on the video and, consider the following questions:

1. What leadership qualities or tactics did you like and, or dislike that the speaker talked about in her story?
2. How did the tactics she used as principle at her school and, qualities she embodied as a leader relate to the teaching philosophies and, concepts we've learned in class?
3. Would you use any of these methods in your role as a teacher/leader/facilitator? Is there anything you would do differently?
